From New York. NEW YORK, July 29 - The Herald's Wash

If this be war England must make the most

Pope serve to screen our pickets from the observation of the enemy. Their mounted pickets and cavalry patrol their beats within short carbine range. The river at this point is not fordable for a large force, though it would be possible for a small body of cavalry to cross. It is stated by Rebel prisoners that Stuart is no longer in command of the Rebel cavalry, but has been assigned to the command of an infantry corps, and has been succeeded in cavalry by Fitzhugh Lee Washington dispatches to the Herald say it is stated by secession sympathizers in this city, unusually well informed in regard to Rebel movements, that Gen. Lee's army is to reoccupy its former position south of the Rappahannock, at Fredericksburg. There is reason to believe that the Government anticipated such a movement of the Rebel forces. The destruction of what remained of wharves and buildings at Aquia Creek three days ago by the Rebels, is another evidence of this determination, as it was evidently to em-Darrass as much as possible the re-establishment of a base of supplies at that point.

From Cincinnati. CINCINNATI, July 29 .- The following information was received at headquarters last night: Col. Pegram with 1,500 to 2,000 men crossed Cumberland River, a day or two since, and moved north toward Richmond. He was in the vicinity of Richmond at last accounts

The prevailing opinion in military circles here, is that when Pegram started, he was not aware of the capture of Morgan, and contemplated as sisting him to escape.

The disposal of our force in Kentucky is such that it will be impossible for Pegram to advance much further or to escape. Columbus specials say:

The question of the authority of Capt. Burbeck to accept the surrender of Morgan will be speedily determined. Burbeck was not regularly elected a militia captain, cor had he any command at the time of Morgan's surrender. Burbeck and a few companions were acting as guides for Morgan, when the latter discovering our forces closing in upon him, offered to surrender to him in order that he might secure terms to suit himself. Burbeck at once granted the terms which Morgan proposed. A few moments afterwards, Shackleford came up and took charge of the gang, refusing to recognize the terms of sur-

NO MAN'S NAME IS MORE INTIMATELY CON-United States, or more favorably known as a pioneer in medical discovery, than that of JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Ky. His inimitable preparation of Sarsaparilla has long stood at the head of the various compounds of that valuable drug. His compound Pectoral of Wild Cherry has become a household word throughout the West and South; and his Worm Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation as widespread as the continent of North America. But the crowning glory of his life remains to be attained in his latest discovery, or rather combination, for he does not claim to have been the discoverer of CEDRON, which is the basis of the hitters now offered to the public. That honor has of the Bitters now offered to the public. That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom i's virtues have been known for more than two O hundred years. Armed with it, the Indian bids defiance to the most deadly malaria, and handles without fear the most venemous serpents. It is a belief with them that while there is breath left in the body the Cedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may be. While Dr. Bull is not prepared to indorse this extravagant pretension, he is nevertheless satisfied from a thorough examination of the evidence relating to its virtues, that, as a remedy and preventive for all diseases arising S from exposure either to changes of weather and climate 90 or to the miasmatic influences, it stands without a rival, and justly deserves the reputation it has so long enjoyed | es n Central America and the West Indies. In

DYSPEPSIA and its attendant train of symptoms, it acts more like a charm than a medicine. There is nothing in the whole range of the Materia Medica that can fer a moment bear a comparison with it in this disease. A full account of this wonderful plant may be found in the eleventh edition of the U. S. Dispensatory, pages 1387 A series of experiments, in which Dr. Bull has been for years engaged, has just been brought to a successful termination, and he is now enabled to offer to the public a combinatian of Cedron with other improved tonics, the whole preserved in the best quality of copper-distille Bourbon whisky, which he is confident has no equal in He mitht furnish a volume of certificates, but the public have long since learned to estimate such things at their true value. The safest plan is for every one to test
